Physicians Say Head Striking Floor Probably Killed Branch.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 38.—The autopsy held last Sunday on the body of Midshipman James R. Branch, jr., bore fruit at to-day's session of the court martial which is trying Midshipman Minor Meriwether on charges inclusive of manslaughter in connection with the death of Midshipman Branch after a fight with Meriwether. The day's testimony was given chiefly by medical men who testimony was given chiefly by medical men who had been present at the autopsy and bore upon the question whether the death of Midshipman Branch resulted from blows of his opponent's fiets or from his head striking the floor of the room in which the fight was held, previous testimony having shown that Branch fell or was knocked down several times during the encounter.

Counsel for Midshipman Meriwether announced

Counsel for Midshipman Meriwether announced that after putting the accused on the stand in his own defence to-morrow they will close their Surgeon Gatewood said that he believed it was more likely that the injuries were received by Branch's head having come directly in contact with some hard object rather than by fist blows. In his opinion the primary cause of death was hemorphage.

some hard object rainer than the was hemorrhage.

Medical Director Howard E. Ames was not asked concerning the details of the autopsy. The cause of Branch's death, he said, was hemorrhage under the overing of the brain, which, he believed, both from what he saw during the operation and at the autopsy, had been caused by Branch's head coming in sharp contact with some hard substance like a floor or a wall.

"The injuries could not," Dr. Ames said, "have come from blows of the fist encased in punchingbag gloves unless Branch's head had been against some unyielding substance. The elasticity of the neck and of Meriwether's arm and knuckles would have made it impossible.

Surgeon E. D. Stokes, U. S. N., who is assisting the prosecution, cross-examined Dr. Ames and the other medical witnesses offered by the defence, particularly with regard to the evidence that there was paralysis of the left side of Branch's body, whereas they indicated that the probable injury was on the same side. In answer witnesses said that Branch's case presented some very unusual that Branch's case presented some very unusual features.

Dr. L. W. Glazebrook, of Washington, who is assisting the defence as medical advisor, stated that he was present at the autopsy upon the body of Midshipman Branch. Death, he said, had been brought about by hemorrhage of the brain covering. There were at least three blood clots on the right side of the skull, where it had been opened by the surgeon performing the operation. From what he saw during the autopsy the witness was satisfied that the fatal injuries were due to Branch's having hit his head against a hard, unvielding substance, such as a floor or wall, and could not have been due to the blows of fists encased in punching bag gloves. All three blood clots that he saw could have been caused, the witness thought, by one blow of the head against the floor or wall.

The treasurer's statement showed that the or ganization received in the year ended October 1 8672,753 63 and spent the entire amount in maintaining its various activities and in investments.

The secretary's report showed that 14.95 children were enrolled in the industrial schools in the year, and that the daily average attendance was 7,600. Further, 13,402 children were relieved in their homes, 4,852 boys and girls were sheltered in the homes, 4.82 boys and girls were sheltered in the lodging houses, 1.40 children were treated by the Sick Children's Mission, 455 boys and girls were returned to their relatives and 465 homeless mothers and children were sheltered.

Last year classes were set aside in three schools for the benefit of two hun-dred little invalids of the tenements. The children were carried to and from school in wagons. Their instruction consisted of such work as tended to make them of some use at home. The older girls were instructed in dressmaking and the older boys in brushmaking.

The association is anxious to get $100,000 for the purchase of a piot of land and the erection of a rouliding where the children of Italian immigrants may be trained. Four years ago a newspaper editor who had been educated partly in the Italian school of the association formed a committee and started to raise funds for the proposed new school. The fund now amounts to $3.837. This money was contributed by more than two thousand different persons. The association is also looking for some kindly disposed person to take up the work of the late Mrs. Fabbri. For many years she provided dinners for as many children of the Italian school as needed them. Only $450 a year is required for this purpose.

SUPERVISOR HOLDS UP BOOKS.

Refuses to Turn Them Over to His Successor on Westchester Board.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]
Ossining, N. Y., Nov. 28.—Lawyers and citizens generally are anxiously awaiting the decision of County Judge W. P. Platt in the case of Supervisor-elect T. George Barnes, who has asked several times for the books, records, etc., of his office from Supervisor Robert T. Dennis, of this town. Dennis was served with a writ signed by Judge Platt, commanding him to show cause why he should not give up the records, and, through his counsel, demanded that the case be dismiss on the grounds that Barnes had not shown any legal proof that he was entitled to them, saying that, while Barnes was elected supervisor, his term did not begin until January 1, 1906. A special act of the legislature in 1906 changed the town meetings in Westchester County from the spring to the first Tuesday in November. The act also changed the time for officials to take office, specifically mentioning that the Board of Supervisors should assume office on the Monday following their election.

election. The decision can have no effect on the Board of Supervisors, it is said, as the board is Democratic anyway by a majority of five votes. Supervisor. Dennis is holding up the books because he says that the law does not compel him to turn them over until they are sudited, and the annual audit does not take place until December.

Mrs. Blickensderfer Thinks Woman's Husband Was Killed by Man.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Stamford, Conn., Nov. 28.-Mrs. W. J. Blickensderfer said to-night she had written to relatives of Mrs. Mary Rogers's murdered husband for permission to exhume his body. It is now three years since the man was murdered, but Mrs. Blickensderfer hopes that the body will be found in a state of preservation sufficient to show that Rogers's death was due to a blow on the head such as a woman of Mrs. Rogers's physique could not strike.

physique could not strike.

Mrs. Blickensderfer and the lawyers who have been fighting to save Mary Rogers from the gallows believe she had no direct connection with the murder of her husband, but that the man was killed by a strong man, a man like Leon Perham, who was sentenced to life imprisonment for complicity in the murder. They believe that if they can show by the remains that their theory is true sentiment will save Mary Rogers's life.

LOOTED BANK OF $3,000.

Safe Robbers Kept Aroused Citizens Away with Rifles.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Indianapolis, Nov. 28.—Cracksmen, believed to be experts, looted the private bank at Vallonia, Jackson County, at 2 o'clock this morning, of $3,000, and made their escape, leaving no clew. They had provided hammers and nitro-glycerine with which to force the safe, but found the job easier than they expected when the combination responded to their efforts and entrance was obtained without resort to the explosive.

Two citizens saw the cracksmen at work, and gave the alarm, but a man stood on either side of the bank, with a Winchester in hand, and the citizens were afraid to approach. This is the second bank robbery at Valionia in a year.

Windsor, Vt., Nov. 28 .- Despite the fact that the United States Supreme Court has declined to interfere in the case of Mrs. Mary M. Rogers, under sentence of death for the murder of her husband, Marcus Rogers, another effort will be made to stay the execution, which is set for Friday, December 8. E. B. Flynn, lawyer for Mrs. Rogers, has in mind another plan. Mrs. Rogers was completely unnerved by the news of the adverse ruling. #### FIGHTS WATER SUPPLY PLANS.

Catskill Property Owner Says City Should Be Saved from Itself.

Kingston, N. Y., Nov. 28.—Before the State Water Supply Commission to-day S. D. Coykendall, one of the largest individual property owners affected by New-York's scheme to obtain its additional water supply from the Catskill Mountains, urged the commission to consider the disaster which would follow the invasion of Catskill territory by five or ten thousand workmen.

The proposed plan, he said, provided for only twenty years' supply at a cost of $150,000,000, while for $210,000,000 the city could obtain a supply from the Adirondacks big enough to last a century. New-York, he said, was wrecking piecemeal, and would turn each county in the State into a bowl from which New-York could drink, and New-York should be protected against itself. Ex-Congressman Isaac N. Cox argued against the plan on behalf of Ellenville.

CHILDHOOD SWEETHEARTS MARRY.

Couple, Acquainted in Germany, Meet by Chance and Wed.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Greenwich, Conn., Nov. 28.—Well dressed and wearing jewels, a couple from out of town ap-peared at the residence of Justice Benjamin F. Scholerman about noon to-day, and asked to be married. They had sought far for a Lutheran clergyman, they said, and finally had decided to ask a justice to officiate. The woman gave her name as Clara Lucke Peltz, of Mamaroneck, and the bridegroom said he was Frederick William Priess. of Philadelphia.

It appeared that the marriage was the result of a childhood friendship in Germany. The bride-groom then lived in Hamburg, and the bride at Berlin. They came to America at different times, and accidentally met in New-York a few weeks ago. They decided to wed, but there was no Lutheran clergyman in Mamaroneck, so they came to East Port Chester. The clergyman there was away, and they showed their determination by coming on to Greenwich, where they finally succeeded in their nurrose.
